“Life is a banquet, and most poor suckers are starving to death!” That’s the motto of Mame Dennis, one of musical theatre’s all-time greatest heroines, in this brassy, tuneful, hilarious and touching adaptation of Patrick Dennis’s bestseller, Auntie Mame. Jerry Herman’s celebrated score includes the rousing title number, plus “Open a New Window,” “If He Walked into My Life,” “We Need a Little Christmas,” and “That’s How Young I Feel.”

Mame is a happy happening. She is well-to-do, lives in New York at the peak of the 1920’s, and is surprised by a “wonderful present”: an orphan 10 year old nephew named Patrick. Who needs his aunt, and this is something new for Mame – to be needed. It changes her life. It brings her into sharp conflict with her best friend, Vera Charles, a multi-martini grande dame of the legitimate theatre... for Vera can’t stand children. Mame, who was about to marry, doesn’t think she’ll have time for marriage – “I’ll be too busy being a mother!” The boy’s nanny, Agnes Gooch, doesn’t approve of those irrepressible things, which go on in Mame’s apartment, and yet she inevitably falls under her spell. With the balloon burst of the Depression, Mame loses all her money, and she loses jobs as quickly as she finds them. In a brief adventure as a manicurist, she meets Beau – a wealthy scion of the South. He takes Mame to his plantation for the begrudging approval of his family. Of course, Beau proposes – in the bouncing title song, which sings the praises of “Mame!” There’s only one problem as the curtain falls on the first act: young Patrick, is afraid he has lost his “Best Girl.”

Act Two rushes headlong into the thirties. Vera stands by her “Bosom Buddy” when Mame returns to Beekman Place after Beau’s sudden death. Patrick, now in college, and Mame’s former suitor, Lindsay Woolsey, prompt Mame into writing her memoirs. The maturing Patrick seems to be slipping away from Mame’s ideal of freedom. When he declares his engagement to a fatuous blonde “with the IQ of a dead flashlight battery,” Mame is in despair. What did she do wrong? But the lady’s resources are endless. Just as young Patrick rescued her from the shallow trap of the twenties, she helps the boy to save himself from a life of drabness and snobbery. Ingeniously, she foils the establishment and life goes on. With spirit, humor, class and wit, MAME is sure to thrill audiences for generations to come

Newton Community Theatre Fundraiser April 7 at 7:30 & April 8 at 2:00 UTOPIA: The Iowa Musical Revue* by Robert John Ford

The Newton Community Theatre will be hosting a fundraiser with the touring production of UTOPIA: The Iowa Musical Revue by Epic Stage Productions from Des Moines. Created by Iowa playwright Robert John Ford creator of Caucus, The Musical and Six-on-Six, the 2018 version will feature "the greatest hits" from all five previous versions of the show. UTOPIA will include sketches and parody songs about RAGBRAI, the Cy-Hawk football game, bean walking, 4-H, and the Iowa weather. It is the perfect entertainment option for Iowans who like to laugh at themselves and visitors who want a hilarious taste of the Hawkeye State. It will bring a smile to your face and a warm feeling to your heartland. UTOPIA celebrates and pokes a little fun at the unique people, places, and traditions of the great state of Iowa. General admission tickets will be $12.00. Tickets will be available at the door, and the box office will be open for advance tickets sales on April 5th 11:00 am–1:00 pm and 6:30 pm–8:00 pm and April 6th 11:00 am–1:00 pm. Doors open one hour before production.

Production: May 18, 19, 20, 24, 25 & 26, 2018

This Broadway hit about the trial of two Marines for complicity in the death of a fellow Marine at Guantanamo Bay sizzles on stage. The Navy lawyer, a callow young man more interested in softball games than the case, expects a plea bargain and a cover-up of what really happened. Prodded by a female member of his defense team, the lawyer eventually makes a valiant effort to defend his clients and, in so doing, puts the military mentality and the Marine code of honor on trial.
